Bard, of New Hartford, N.Y., was selected to the All-Atlantic Coast Conference squad for the second consecutive year as a member of the University of Virginia team. He has played in two U.S. Amateurs and two U.S. Junior Amateurs, advancing to match play in all four championships. Bard won the 2015 Sunnehanna Amateur by one stroke with a 72-hole score of 12-under 268. He defeated Rahm in the quarterfinal round of the U.S. Amateur en route to his runner-up finish to Bryson DeChambeau at Olympia Fields (Ill.) Country Club.

Rahm, of Spain, received the Jack Nicklaus Award as the nation's top collegiate player and became the first player to win the Ben Hogan Award twice. He won this year's Pac-12 individual championship and the NCAA Albuquerque Regional. Rahm, who was medalist in the 2014 World Amateur Team Championship, breaking Nicklaus' 72-hole scoring record, advanced to the quarterfinals of last year's U.S. Amateur.

Scottie Scheffler, of Dallas, Texas, helped the University of Texas win this year's Big 12 Championship and the NCAA Franklin Regional. He was the Big 12's top newcomer in 2015. CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY

The first United States Open Championship was won by Horace Rawlins in September 1895, at Newport (R.I.) Country Club. As the victor, Rawlins earned $150, a gold champion's medal, and use of the championship sterling silver cup for one year. The trophy was designated for display at Rawlins' club until it was presented to the next year's champion, beginning a perennial rite that has endured for more than a century.

The original two-handled cup was destroyed by fire in September 1946 at Lloyd Mangrum's home country club, Tam O'Shanter, outside of Chicago. The USGA considered replacing it with a new design, but opted instead to preserve the look of the original with a full-scale replica on April 24, 1947. This replica remained in service, passed from champion to champion until 1986, when it was permanently retired to the USGA Museum. Today, the U.S. Open champion receives possession of the 1986 full-scale replica.

The original U.S. Open Trophy is on display at the USGA Museum in Far Hills, N.J.

MAJOR CHAMPIONSHIP VICTORY LEADERS – Tiger Woods is in second place among the all-time major championship victory leaders with 14 major professional titles. Jack Nicklaus is first with 18 victories, including four U.S. Opens.

Rory McIlroy and Spieth won consecutive major championships in 2014 and 2015, respectively. McIlroy became the first player since Pádraig Harrington to win consecutive majors with his victories at the 2014 Open Championship and 2014 PGA Championship. MASTERING THE OPEN – In 2015, Jordan Spieth joined a select group of players who have won both the Masters and U.S. Open in the same year. The list also includes Craig Wood (1941), Ben Hogan (1951, '53), Arnold Palmer (1960), Jack Nicklaus (1972) and Tiger Woods (2002). Hogan, Palmer and Nicklaus were over the age of 30 when they accomplished the feat, while Woods and Spieth were ages 26 and 22, respectively.

HISTORY – This is the 116th U.S. Open Championship. The U.S. Open, which was first played in 1895, was not contested for two years (1917-18) during World War I and for four years (1942-45) during World War II. The youngest winner of the U.S. Open was 19-year-old John McDermott, who won in 1911; he is among eight players age 21 or younger who have won the U.S. Open. The oldest winner is Hale Irwin, who was 45 and playing on a special exemption when he won his third U.S. Open title in 1990. Irwin also won in 1974 and 1979.

There are four four-time U.S. Open winners: Willie Anderson (1901, 1903, 1904, 1905), amateur Robert T. Jones Jr. (1923, 1926, 1929, 1930), Ben Hogan (1948, 1950, 1951, 1953), and Jack Nicklaus (1962, 1967, 1972, 1980).

TWO-TEE START – A two-tee start was first adopted for the 2002 U.S. Open. The USGA had successfully adopted a two-tee start for the U.S. Women's Open in 2000 and for the U.S. Senior Open in 2001. Play will begin at 6:45 a.m. EDT at the first tee and 10th tee on Thursday at Oakmont Country Club.

OPEN ECONOMICS – Jordan Spieth, the 2015 U.S. Open champion, earned $1.8 million from a purse of $10 million last year at Chambers Bay. In 1994, Ernie Els' winning share was $320,000 from a purse of $1,752,835 in the U.S. Open at Oakmont Country Club. In 1973 at Oakmont, Johnny Miller earned $35,000 from a purse of $219,400.

OPEN BIRTHDAYS – Fourteen players in the U.S. Open field will be celebrating a birthday around the championship. Phil Mickelson, a record six-time Open runner-up and a five-time professional major championship winner, is among that group. He turns 46 on June 16, the day of the championship's first round.
