Erica Shepherd Wins the 2017 Championship

The 18th hole at Boone Valley Golf Club is called “Waterloo,” but for Erica Shepherd, it was the par-3 16th hole that had given her fits in the 69th U.S. Girls’ Junior Championship.

How satisfying then that the hole she had double-bogeyed in stroke play and struggled with all week in matches would prove to be the spot where she sealed victory in the 2017 U.S. Girls’ Junior, a championship that had been won by her friend and mentor Leigh Anne Hardin Creavy 19 years earlier.

When Shepherd tapped in a short par putt after a solid 5-iron tee shot on the 194-yard hole, her 3-and-2 victory over 16th-seeded Jennifer Chang, of Cary, N.C., was complete. And so was a quest of sorts.

“Ever since I was little, I’ve always told everyone when making my goals, this is the goal that I have to accomplish,” said Shepherd, 16, of Greenwood, Ind., the No. 35 match-play seed whose middle name is “Leigh” in honor of Creavy. “I have her as my [screen] background holding the Girls’ Junior trophy to try to motivate me to do that.”

Shepherd was motivated, but also struggling to overcome the unfortunate ending of her semifinal victory over Elizabeth Moon on Friday, when Moon pulled her ball back toward her before her tap-in putt had been conceded. Under the Rules of Golf, Shepherd could not concede the putt after Moon touched the ball.

On Saturday morning, Shepherd’s opponent – and close friend – Chang pulled her aside before they stepped to the first tee.

“I was on the putting green, and she just walked toward me and gave me a hug,” said Shepherd. “She just asked if I was OK, and I kind of broke down and started crying, then she gave me this whole speech about like how there was nothing I could have done about it, and that just really boosted me back up and got me to regroup.”

“I said, forget about that,” said Chang. “Let’s have some fun. Just you and me, one-on-one. Let’s go for it.”

Shepherd also heard from Creavy before the championship match.

“She just told me she knew how I felt because she can relate to me caring too much about what other people think,” said Shepherd, who became the second left-handed female champion in USGA history, joining fellow Hoosier Julia Potter (2013, 2016 U.S. Women’s Mid-Amateur). “She told me to just be Erica, and to not let what other people were saying get in my head or distract me.”

Shepherd took the lead in the championship match on the par-4 second hole, putting Chang in a position she had not experienced in any of her five previous matches: behind. In fact, Chang had been an amazing front-runner from the Round of 64 through the semifinals – she not only never trailed, she had only been all square in a match for four holes total.

“That came to my mind, just that one moment when I lost that second hole,” said Chang, 17, a high school senior who has verbally committed to the University of Southern California. “But, I forgot about that right away. I was like, there’s plenty of golf left. There’s nothing that can stop you right now.”

Chang rallied to take her only lead of the match on the 12th hole of the morning round, and she stood 1 down after Shepherd missed the green on No. 16 and made bogey. But Shepherd solidified her advantage going into the lunch break by winning holes 17 and 18 to go 3 up, as she birdied No. 17 and Chang hit her approach shot into the water on No. 18.

But the match was far from over. Shepherd, a high school junior who has verbally committed to Duke University for fall 2018, maintained at least a 3-up lead through 27 holes, but she made a sloppy double bogey on the par-4 10th hole and lost the 13th hole when Chang converted an 8-foot birdie to trim the advantage to one hole.

Clinging to a slim lead on the uphill par-5 14th, Shepherd saw Chang knock her approach within 10 feet for birdie and a possible deadlock. From just under 50 yards away, Shepherd went to her strength, a lob-wedge shot that stopped just behind the hole, 3 feet away. Chang missed, Shepherd made her birdie, and the rally was stifled.

That end came on No. 16, where Shepherd finally solved that par-3 riddle by busting a 5-iron to within 12 feet on the 194-yard hole. She completed a two-putt par for the victory.

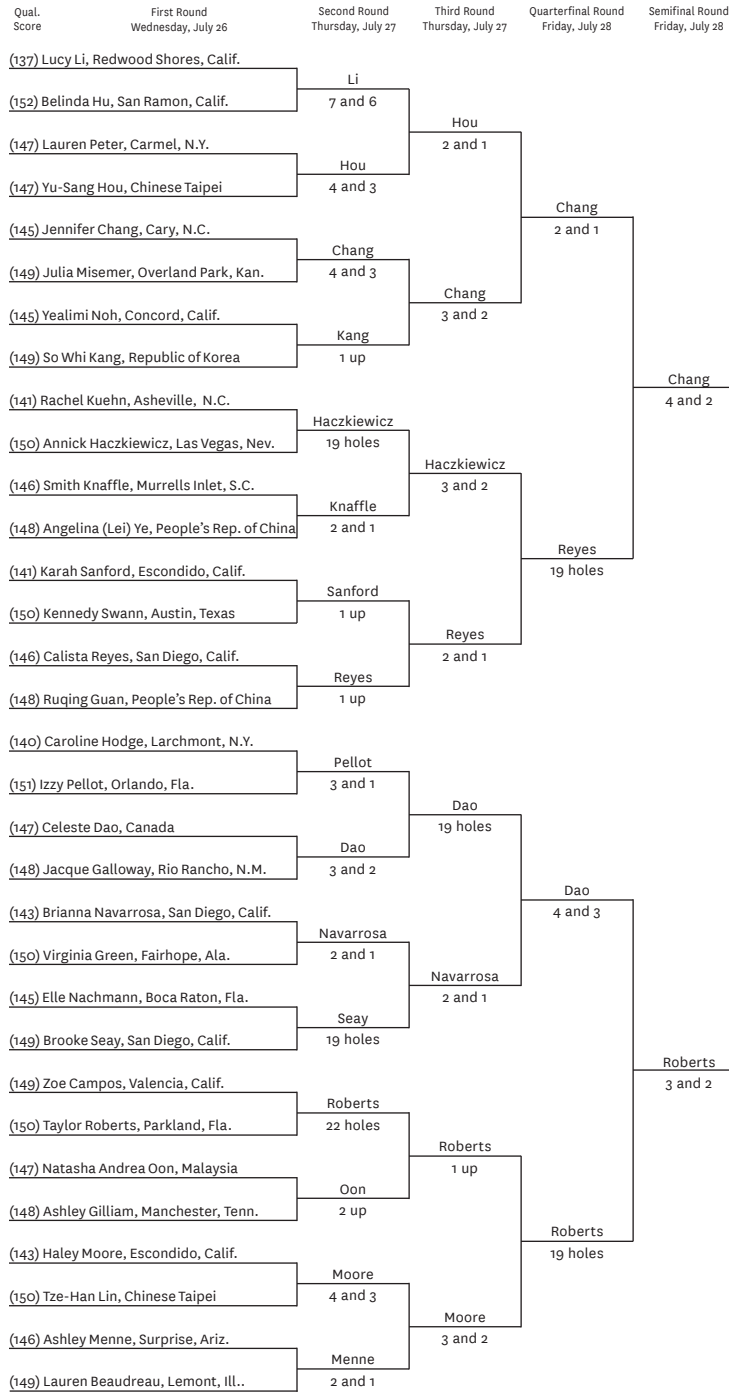

“I’m really proud of Erica,” said Chang. “She’s one of my best friends, and it’s a fun match with her. I mean, there’s that intensity, but it’s fun.”

After all of the distractions, the day became fun for Shepherd once she got her pep talk from Chang and stepped onto the first tee.

“I was definitely down before that, but as soon as I got on the tee, I was looking at the trophy, and I’m like, I have a chance to win the U.S. Girls’ Junior today, so I’m not going to let any of that get in the way,” said Shepherd.

She didn’t, and now her name will join that of a very dear friend on the Glenna Collett Vare Trophy.

Championship History

The U.S. Girls' Junior Championship was established in 1949, one year after the U.S. Junior Amateur Championship. Philadelphia (Pa.) Country Club, one of the oldest golf courses in the nation, was the host club for the USGA's newest championship. The club's Bala Course was constructed in 1891, three years before the birth of the USGA.

The inaugural Girls' Junior drew a starting field of 28 girls from 17 states, although 10 of the players were from the Philadelphia area.

More impressive than the size of the field or the styles of play was the wonderful spirit and sportsmanship the contestants brought to the game, and their complete lack of pretense.

The first champion, 15-year-old Marlene Bauer, came all the way from Los Angeles to win her first national golf title. While golf for girls beyond the club level was still a novelty, Bauer had been encouraged by her father, a golf professional, since the age of 3. Her victory in the first Girls' Junior was the springboard for a long and distinguished career.

The championship has also helped launch the careers of such outstanding players as Mickey Wright, who won in 1952 and later captured four U.S. Women's Open Championships, and JoAnne Gunderson Carner, who won the first of her eight USGA titles in the 1956 Girls' Junior. Nancy Lopez won in 1972 and 1974, interrupted in 1973 by Amy Alcott, who went on to win the Women's Open in 1980.

Considering the brevity and time limitations on a junior golf career, Hollis Stacy's record of three consecutive Girls' Junior Championships, from 1969 to 1971, is among the most remarkable accomplishments in USGA history. Stacy, however, never made it easy. The final matches of her first two championships went 18 holes. In her last victory, in 1971, Stacy needed 4-under-par golf to eventually defeat Alcott at the 19th hole. From the third through the 17th holes, neither player made a bogey; between them they made nine birdies. The match is regarded as one of the finest in USGA history.

With her last victory, Stacy became only the seventh golfer to win USGA championships in three successive years. She later won the Women's Open Championship in 1977, 1978 and 1984.

Kay Cornelius, the 1981 winner, is among the noteworthy champions. Her mother, Kathy Cornelius, won the 1956 U.S. Women's Open. They remain the only mother-daughter tandem to have captured USGA championships.

While victory in the U.S. Girls' Junior by no means guarantees a successful career in women's golf, Girls' Junior champions have won the Women's Amateur 11 times and the Women's Open 12 times. Furthermore, 19 Girls' Junior champions have gone on to represent the USA on the Curtis Cup Team through 2017, including such names as Heather Farr, Gunderson Carner, Lopez, Stacy and Lexi Thompson.
