2012 Conditions of Play

The Teams

All states and the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico may enter teams of three players. Entries are open to male amateur golfers whose permanent residence is in the state they represent and who have been nominated by the USGA-designated state or regional golf association. College golfers are not eligible under NCAA rules.

Format

54 holes of stroke play; 18 holes played on each of three days

Scoring

In each round, the total of the two lowest scores by players on each team constitutes the team score for the round. The three-day total is the team's score for the championship.

Schedule of Play

Wednesday, Sept. 19 — First round (18 holes)

Thursday, Sept. 20 — Second round (18 holes)

Friday, Sept. 21 — Third round (18 holes)

Kansas Wins the 2010 Championship

The gigantic smile on Bryan Norton's face told the entire story.

Twice a USGA runner-up — once as an individual at the 2003 U.S. Mid-Amateur and again last September at the Men's State Team Championship — the 51-year-old from Mission Hills, Kan., resident was longing to take home a national title.

Norton's quest finally ended at the 2010 USGA Men's State Team Championship at Mayacama Golf Club in Santa Rosa, Calif. Carding a 3-under-par 68 in the final round, Norton guided Kansas to a four-stroke victory over Rhode Island, Florida and North Carolina.

Kansas, which started the day tied with Georgia for the 36-hole lead, shot an even-par 142 on the 6,726-yard Jack Nicklaus design to finish the 54-hole competition at 2-under 423. Charlie Stevens of Wichita and Tyler Shelton of Fairway each posted 74s, with one being discarded in the three-count-two format.

"This means a lot," said the 41-year-old Stevens. "I'm excited for Bryan. He's done a lot for Kansas golf.

"I don't know if it's vindication or justification, but we showed we can play. It's a neat deal. It's going to be really neat for the Kansas Golf Association. [Executive Director] Kim Richey did not make it [to Mayacama]. He's going to be pretty excited."

Georgia, meanwhile, struggled on the final day, posting a 10-over 152 to share ninth place. The disappointment was shown on the faces of all three players entering the scoring area adjacent to the 18th green. David Noll Jr. of Dothan, who had a course-record 65 in round two, carded a 77 and Adam Cooper added a 75.

Florida, which started the day five stroke back, made an early run at Kansas on the first nine, shooting four under par. But only Don Bell managed to finish with a sub-par score (67). Jon Veneziano added a 74. It was Florida's best finish since the inaugural event in 1995 at Lake Nona, where they were solo second to champion Virginia.

"We're excited about that for sure," said Bell, coming off a second-round 80. "Of course it's disappointing not to win. Congratulations to the winners, they played great. I think for our association, we are very pleased to finish second."

North Carolina, which also tied for second in 2003, posted a 1-under 140 behind a 70 by Scott Harvey and Uly Grisetette's 71.

Rhode Island produced its best finish ever in the State Team after sharing fourth last year with South Carolina. Charlie Blanchard rallied with a second-nine 33 for a 71 and Bobby Leopold posted a 70.

With the course baked in sunshine all day and just a gentle breeze, conditions were ideal for scoring. Eight teams managed under-par totals, doubling the totals (four) from the first two rounds. Eighteen individuals broke par, equaling the number of sub-par rounds over the first 36 holes.

Kansas appeared it was going to run away from the field early on the second nine, with Shelton and Norton under par. But things can change rapidly in a team event, and when Shelton doubled No. 17 and knocked two in the water on 18 for a triple-bogey 8, things became a little precarious.

Norton, playing in the final group, only saw on a scoreboard that his team was six under and never heard about Shelton's travails on the last two holes. He managed to birdie both par-5s coming in, reaching the 18th in two and two-putting for a closing birdie to offset a bogey at the par-3 17th.

The victory was especially sweet for Norton. At the 2003 U.S. Mid-Amateur, he pulled a calf muscle 8½ holes into the championship match and had to concede to Nathan Smith. A year ago at The Country Club of St. Albans in suburban St. Louis, Norton, competing with two different players (Jon Troutman and Dodge Kemmer), watched his team open with a 9-under 133, matching the championship 18-hole scoring mark. Caught in a heavy downpour in round two, the team struggled to a 152 and couldn't recover enough in the final round, placing three strokes behind champion Pennsylvania, and ironically Smith.

Norton vowed 2010 would provide a different outcome, urging the Kansas Golf Association to change its selection criteria to focus on hot players, not overall points. The process seemed to work.

"As soon as they selected the team, I sent an e-mail to these two guys that we're going to win," said Norton, a veteran of two previous State Team Championships. "We're not going there to play good. We had a good team for this course. We had guys who could keep it in play and good decision-makers."

2010 Championship Notes

Leaders

First round – Washington and Kansas at 2-under-par 140, by two over Georgia. Second round – Kansas and Georgia at 3-under 281, by five over Florida, Rhode Island and North Carolina.

Weather

Fog suspended play for 60 minutes in the first round Tuesday morning. Play suspended for darkness at 7:35 p.m. PDT. Play suspended again in Wednesday's second round for 45 minutes due to fog. Play suspended for the day due to darkness at 7:37 p.m. PDT. Temperatures were cool and mild throughout the week, ranging from the low 60s to upper 70s. Overcast skies in the a.m. transitioned to sunny skies each afternoon.

Notes

All 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico were represented in the field ... Three USGA champions participated: 2009 U.S. Amateur Public Links champion Brad Benjamin (Illinois); 1994 and 2001 U.S. Mid-Amateur champion Tim Jackson (Tennessee) and 2003 and 2009 U.S. Mid-Amateur champion Nathan Smith (Pennsylvania) ... Smith, Knapp (Pennsylvania); Keith Decker (Virginia) and Jackson had all won a USGA Men's State Team title ... Decker and Frank Vana Jr. (Massachusetts) have now competed in all nine USGA Men's State Team Championships ... Elvin Gonzalez and Erick J. Morales had represented Puerto Rico in past World Amateur Team Championships, while Gonzalez and Smith each competed in the 2010 Copa de las Americas event in Argentina in January ... Twenty-five golfers had qualified for the 2010 U.S. Amateur, including stroke-play medalist Jeff Wilson (California) ... The 65 shot by Georgia's David Noll Jr. in the second round was a competitive course record at Mayacama ... The youngest player in the field was 16-year-old Seth Sweet of Maine, while the oldest was 61-year-old Todd Baumgartner of North Dakota ... By hosting the Men's State Team Championship, California joined Minnesota as the only state to have hosted all 13 USGA championships, the Walker Cup, Curtis Cup and State Team Championship.

Championship History

The USGA Men's State Team Championship, as well as the Women's State Team Championship, grew out of the Association's centennial celebration in 1995. It was decided that a new championship, one in which each state could be represented by non-collegiate, amateur golfers, was a good way to cap the USGA's year-long celebration. The State Team Championship proved such a success that it has returned every two years.

The championship was fashioned after the biennial World Amateur Team Championships. Each state was invited to send three players; 46 states and Puerto Rico sent teams to compete at Lake Nona Golf Club in Orlando, Fla., in 1995, and 50 states and Puerto Rico sent teams to compete at SunRidge Canyon Golf Club in Fountain Hills, Ariz., in 1997. From 2001 to 2007 and in 2010, 52 teams — all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia — participated.

State associations were given the option to choose their teams by any method. College players, however, were ineligible due to NCAA bylaws. Under current NCAA rules, a player may only participate in an international team match when that team is sponsored by the national governing body, such as in the Walker Cup Match. Otherwise, the player is faced with being declared ineligible for the remainder of the season of the infraction, as well as the following season.

Some states chose their players by a point system. Some selected the top finishers from their state championships or conducted qualifying tournaments. Other states empanelled selection committees that sifted through the year's results.

The first State Championship, conducted Oct. 26–28, 1995, gave a decided advantage to Southern teams as it came beyond the competitive season for many states. The South Dakota team, for example, had left home with six inches of snow on the ground, and the Alaskans had not played since mid-September.

Based on the original World Amateur Team format, in which each team fields four players, with only the best three scores counted each of three rounds, Virginia prevailed in the inaugural championship. Minnesota, with nationally decorated amateur John Harris leading the way, won the 1997 event with a cumulative score of 416, 10 under par.

The lone individual prize is a bronze medal to the low scorer, but it is important that many of the best amateurs in the country have supported these early championships. In 1997, four members of that year's USA Walker Cup Team played, including Harris, and many USGA champions have represented their home state.
