Georgia Wins the 2009 Championship

Dori Carter, 22, of Valdosta, carded a 3-under-par 69 and 15-year-old Mariah Stackhouse, of Riverdale, added a 70, pacing Georgia to a nine-stroke victory over Alabama in the 2009 USGA Women's State Team Championship conducted at the 6,095-yard, par-72 Sycamore Hills Golf Club in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Georgia, which started the final round with a three-shot advantage over Hawaii and South Carolina, became the first team to win multiple Women's State Team titles since the biennial competition began in 1995. Laura Coble, 45, of Augusta is the only Georgia member to have played on both teams. Her final-round 75 was not counted in the 3-count-2 format.

Georgia went wire-to-wire in the championship and finished with a 54-hole total of 4-over 436. Alabama, which shot a final-round even-par 144 thanks to a championship-record-tying 67 from 2002 U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur champion Kathy Hartwiger, 43, of Birmingham, finished two strokes ahead of third-place Hawaii (447). Mississippi (450) and South Carolina (451), which received a final-round 68 from 35-year-old Dawn Woodard of Greer, rounded out the top five.

"Unbelievable," said a teary-eyed Coble. "Those two kids ... they are special. I don't know what to say. We are drinking champagne tonight."

Carter made sure none of Georgia's pursuers would have a chance by shooting a 4-under 32 on Sycamore Hills' first nine. With three consecutive birdies on 13, 14 and 15, Carter had aspirations of breaking the 18-hole scoring mark of 67 set by Brenda Corrie Kuehn, of North Carolina, in 1997 and matched by Hartwiger in 2009. But the former University of Mississippi standout finished with three consecutive bogeys, including back-to-back three-putts on Nos. 16 and 17, and settled for a 69 and overall medalist honors by two strokes over Woodard.

"I started getting nervous when I made that bogey," said Carter, who planned to graduate from Ole Miss in December with a business management degree. "I think I was more nervous that I was six under par. I mean it was intense.

"When I walked off the [18th] green, I couldn't believe I just did that (make three straight bogeys). But it's cool that we still won. It's been the most perfect day."

Stackhouse looked as if she might struggle in the final round, especially following a triple-bogey 6 at the par-3 fourth hole. But the North Clayton High School sophomore played her final 14 holes in six under par. That run included four consecutive birdies from No. 7, including a chip-in birdie at the eighth and a 30-footer from the fringe at the ninth.

"This is huge," said Stackhouse. "After Dori finished, I was standing with Laura, my dad and with [team captain] Sissi [Gann] and realized, 'Oh my God, I have a USGA championship now.' That's amazing."

Added Coble on Stackhouse's ability to come back from the tough start: "She's got a head on her shoulders that most 15-year-olds don't have in those types of situations."

Georgia opened the championship with a 1-under 143 and led South Carolina by four strokes. Despite a 9-over 153 in round two, Georgia still had a three-shot advantage.

"This was my dream team," said Georgia captain Gann.

Besides the 67 from Hartwiger, Alabama counted a 5-over 77 by 22-year-old Jordan Hardy, a last-minute replacement for Courtney Trimble, who accepted the head women's golf coach position at the University of Central Florida in late August.

Hawaii, which had the youngest team, counted a 1-over 73 by 23-year-old Xyra Suyetsugu and a 74 from 14-year-old Kacie Komoto, the youngest competitor in the 147-player field. Hawaii's previous best finish had been 10th in 2007.

Championship History

The USGA Women's State Team Championship, in 1995, like the men's version, grew out of the celebration of the Association's Centennial and was fashioned after the biennial World Amateur Team Championship.

Each state was invited to send its three best players, and 43 states sent women's teams to compete for the new title at the Lake Buena Vista (Fla.) Club. State associations were given the option to choose their teams by any method, with one restriction: college players were ineligible because of NCAA bylaws. The NCAA rule states that a player may only play in an international team match when that team is sponsored by the national governing body, such as the Curtis Cup, or the Women's World Amateur Team Championship. Any infraction of that rule means the college player is faced with being declared ineligible for the remainder of the season and the following season.

As a result, the field for the Women's State Team Championship was made up almost entirely of mid-amateur and senior players. Some states used a point system to select the three-woman team. Others used the top finishers in their state championships or conducted qualifying tournaments. A few states employed a selection committee to determine team members.

Just as in the Women's World Amateur Team Championship, the Women's State Team Championship format meant that only the best two scores of each state's three players were counted on each of three days.

The winning team in the inaugural championship was from Pennsylvania and was made up of Liz Haines of Gladwyne, Judy Oliver of Sewickley, and Carol Semple Thompson, also of Sewickley. Oliver and Thompson have both played for the United States of America in the Curtis Cup Match. The competition was close, as Pennsylvania's score of 442 edged the Texas team by only one stroke.

While no individual prizes were awarded, Toni Wiesner of Fort Worth, Texas, and Lancy Smith of Snyder, N.Y., recorded the lowest individual scores. Each scored 219 for 54 holes, three over par.

The first Women's State Team Championship proved to be such a popular competition that the decision was made to conduct the championship every two years.
