

2015 USGA Championship Media Credential Regulations

The United States Golf Association (USGA) has exclusive media rights to all USGA championships, including the exclusive right to license live play-by-play coverage and to transmit comprehensive coverage of the championships.

To simultaneously provide the best competitive environment for the players and the best possible working environment for media at USGA championships, media credentials will be issued only to individuals regularly employed by and on assignment from newspapers, golf publications, golf and sports websites, radio and television stations, networks and wire services, as determined by the USGA in its sole discretion. Individuals representing multiple interests (such as a recognized golf magazine and a website) must agree to be bound by all applicable media regulations.

CREDENTIALS WILL BE ISSUED TO REPRESENTATIVES OF MEDIA OUTLETS WHICH WILL PROVIDE IMMEDIATE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF NEWS COVERAGE. “Immediate national championship golf news coverage” for purposes of these criteria shall mean that the editorial, audio and/or visual deadlines for the championship action being documented occur no later than 48 hours after the completion of competition at the site. Exceptions for monthly and weekly publications may be at the sole discretion of USGA Communications. No other use by the media organization and or individual granted a credential may be made without the prior written approval of the USGA. Members of the media who hold USGA permanent badges are welcome to attend the championship, but must apply for working media credentials by the deadline set by USGA Communications. Members with permanent badges must still meet credentialing criteria and are bound by the same terms and conditions as set forth in these Regulations and are required to acknowledge their agreement to these Regulations.

Coverage is welcomed and permitted under the following terms and conditions which may not be modified without the prior written consent of the USGA.

Regulations for ‘Inside The Ropes’ Access at 2015 U.S. Open

Because of the unique terrain and extremely limited safe, out-of-play space at Chambers Bay and to provide the safest conditions for the media attending, inside-the-ropes access must be extremely limited. The layout of the course, with appropriate roping, does not allow for a continuous walking path from the first tee to the 18th green, which is usual for inside-the-ropes access holders.

Reserved viewing areas will be provided at selected locations on the golf course.

To assist with detailing a player’s performance, the USGA is implementing ball position tracking as part of the its scoring application. Real-time, detailed stroke history will be available in the media center and on usopen.com and its mobile application.

A limited number of appropriate inside-the-ropes IDs will be issued by USGA Communications for credentialed media. A special release form, signed by the credentialed media member may, at the USGA’s sole discretion, be required. A breach of any of the media credential regulations may result in forfeiture of the media credentials for both the individual and media organization including, but not limited to the right to work at the current and future USGA championships. Such determination is in the sole discretion of the USGA.

GUIDELINES FOR INSIDE-THE-ROPES ACCESS

In order for individuals from these credentialed media organizations to obtain access to the USGA championship, each such individual will be required to review and acknowledge they will abide by the USGA Media Credential Regulations. Any attempt to modify the terms and conditions of these regulations without the prior written consent of the USGA may result in a rejection of or revocation of such credentials.

The rights and privileges granted to the media organization and individuals from these media organizations shall automatically terminate if any terms or conditions of the regulations are breached. The unauthorized use of the credential subjects the individual or news organization to forfeiture of the credential for the championship.

The USGA retains the exclusive right to real-time transmission of streaming video, digital images, and real-time audio of the Championship on the USGA website or a site designated by the USGA. "Real-time" is defined by the USGA as continuous play-by-play account or live, extended live/real-time statistics, or detailed description of the championship. The credential holder may, during the credentialing process, request the opportunity to blog or use social media outlets during the Championship, which, if granted, must be done only from the on-site Media Center; however, the blog or use of social media outlets may not produce any form of "real-time" description of the championship. Periodic updates of scores, statistics or other brief descriptions are acceptable and must be in compliance with the above referenced Website/Digital Applications regulations (e.g. no sooner than 15 minutes after the actual occurrence of the shots or after the time such information is legally available as public information if sooner than 15 minutes after the actual occurrence of the shots). All media entities posting a blog or using social media outlets during the championship must submit a direct link from the blog or social media account to USGA Communications and shall be free of charge to all readers. The credential holder agrees that the determination of whether a blog or using social media is a real-time description shall be in the USGA's sole discretion. If the USGA deems a credential holder is producing a real-time description, such action is considered a breach of the terms and conditions of the credential and the USGA reserves the right to revoke the credential and all other rights set forth in the foregoing regulations.

The credentialed individual and media organization assumes all risk and danger incidental to and associated with attendance at the USGA championships and hereby waives, releases and discharges the USGA, participating players, host entity, and affiliated companies, vendors, and their respective employees, officers, directors, agents, representatives, volunteers, and/or volunteers associated with the USGA championships, and agrees to hold harmless all of the persons, associations and entities listed above, from any and all claim for damages for death, personal injury or property loss or damage, including all costs and expenses which result from such attendance at the USGA championships. The foregoing waiver, release and assumption of risk shall be binding on the media organization, its successors and assigns as well as the individual and the credentialed individual's heirs and assigns. Anyone granted media credentials shall be bound by the regulations set forth herein as well as the terms and conditions of the ticket holder/credential holder license agreement. Media credentials are not transferrable and may not be sold or otherwise transferred without the prior written consent of the USGA.

The credentialed media organization and credentialed individual of the media credentials shall jointly and severally indemnify, defend and hold the USGA, participating players, the host entity, vendors and their respective employees, officers, directors, agents, representatives, volunteers, successors and assigns harmless from and against any and all expenses, lawsuits, damages, costs and liabilities (including reasonable legal fees and expenses) incurred by, arising from, or in connection with any actions of the credentialed entity or individual user or the unauthorized use of any photograph highlight or other coverage of the USGA championships.

Each credentialed organization and each credentialed individual must acknowledge they have read and agree to these terms and conditions prior to being granted credentials.

We hereby apply for credentials to cover this USGA championship and accept and agree to the foregoing terms and conditions. Failure to comply with any of the terms and conditions of the regulations set forth above may result in loss of credentials for this event and/or future USGA championships and the denial of credentials for the media outlet identified below at this event and/or at any future USGA championship at the USGA's sole discretion.
