Zalatoris Wins the 2014 Championship

In a memorable match that was closer than the final score indicated, William Zalatoris, of Plano, Texas, defeated Davis Riley, of Hattiesburg, Miss., 5 and 3, to win the 2014 U.S. Junior Amateur Championship at The Club at Carlton Woods' Nicklaus Course. It is the first USGA championship title for Zalatoris and the second consecutive U.S. Junior runner-up finish for Riley.

"This is the one I've always wanted to win," said Zalatoris, who was making his fifth and final appearance in the championship he first qualified for when he was 12. "This is the tournament that really pushed me to play golf. And I really, really wanted to win this, and this is the first week that I really felt like I could do it. My emotions are running like crazy."

The battle between these two accomplished 17-year-olds began at 8 a.m. CDT and got off to the kind of start that is worthy of a championship final. Zalatoris and Riley hit their approach shots to the par-4 first hole to 25 feet and 15 feet, respectively, and both drained the birdie putts. It was one of four holes that they would halve with birdies in a match that was rarely without precise shot-making and clutch putting.

The players went back and forth between 1 up and all square through the 10th hole. Riley made his first surge after that, birdieing 11 and 12, the latter when he knocked in a curling, down-hill putt from the back fringe on the 160-yard par 3.

The 2-up margin was short-lived, however. Zalatoris won the next hole to cut the deficit in half, and the players arrived at the dramatic par-5 18th hole, which has been the site of clutch shots and exciting finishes all week, with Riley nursing a 1-up lead.

On 18, both players hit wayward drives and had to lay up, and Zalatoris was first to play his third. He executed a near-perfect shot from 105 yards that landed close to the hole and settled 5 feet away. Riley, trying to match it, instead came up just short in the greenside bunker, and Zalatoris rolled in the birdie to square the match at the midway point.

"It did mean a lot, having a little bit of momentum," said Zalatoris about the birdie on 18. "The morning was awesome, just back and forth. And this afternoon I really played the round of my life."

Indeed, Zalatoris emerged from the lunch break with his foot on the gas. He birdied the first two holes — the 19th and 20th of the match — to take his first 2-up lead of the day. Though Riley birdied the next hole to cut the margin to 1 up, it was clear that Zalatoris was on top of his game and Riley, though also playing well, would have a hard time regaining the lead.

With Zalatoris holding a 3-up advantage through 30 holes, the match was effectively decided over the next two holes. On the par-5 13th hole (the 31st of the match), Riley hit a driver off the deck from more than 275 yards, reaching the first cut of rough just short and right of the green. His chip ran roughly 8 feet past the hole, but with Zalatoris facing a 4-footer for par, it was Riley's chance to get to within 2 down of his opponent. The putt stopped one inch to the right of the hole, much to Riley's frustration.

The 437-yard 14th hole is fairly straight but has a narrow fairway and a difficult green that slopes away from the players. Here, on the 32nd hole of the match, Riley hooked his drive into the rough on the left yet hit a lovely approach shot that bounced in the front of the green and rolled over a ridge to within 10 feet of the hole. Zalatoris, from the middle of the fairway, then hit the shot of the championship.

From 119 yards, he selected his 56-degree wedge and, sticking to the game plan that he and his caddie, Scott Fawcett, had agreed upon, Zalatoris took dead aim at the flagstick. The shot soared high and landed just short of the hole, then took one hop and went in for an eagle-2 that must have felt like a dagger to a stunned Riley.

"That's the shot I'll never forget," said Zalatoris. "That hole has been giving me fits all week. To see that go in and not have to deal with putting on that green was great satisfaction. I really had to slow myself down after that."

Four up and dormie, Zalatoris needed to simply avoid a big mistake to gain the victory. He ripped a drive down the middle of the fairway on the next hole and reached the green safely, while Riley missed long and left with his approach. Zalatoris ended up with a conceded par and the 5-and-3 victory, soaking in the applause and adulation of his family, friends and the gallery.

"You know, this one, it touches my heart, to be honest with you," said Zalatoris. "Just spin this trophy around and look at the names, it's amazing."

The victory continued a sizzling summer for Zalatoris, who won the Texas State Amateur in June and the Trans-Miss Championship in July.

Riley, who became the only player in U.S. Junior Amateur history to lose in two finals, was magnanimous in defeat.

"He played well, and congrats to him," said Riley. "I'm really proud of how I played. I didn't beat myself; he just deserved it."

Notes

The Club at Carlton Woods' Nicklaus Course, which opened for play in 2001, hosted its third USGA championship, following the 2007 USGA Men's and Women's State Team Championships, also held on the club's companion Fazio Course ... The course, at 7,284 yards, was the second-longest in U.S. Junior Amateur history ... The U.S. Junior Amateur was held in the state of Texas for the third time ... There were 17 fully exempt players in the field, including 2013 runner-up Davis Riley but not 2013 champion Scottie Scheffler, who turned 18 prior to the championship and was ineligible ... Fourteen of the 17 exempt players advanced to match play, and three of the four semifinalists were exempt, though not eventual champion William Zalatoris ... One exempt player, Will Grimmer, played in the 2014 U.S. Open at Pinehurst No. 2 ... Three players in the field — Zecheng Dou, Sam Horsfield and Easton Paxton — competed in the week before in the 2014 U.S. Amateur Public Links Championship in Newton, Kan. ... The field had players from 39 U.S. states and 13 countries, including Australia, Canada, China, Chinese Taipei, Colombia, England, Germany, India, Korea, Mexico, Norway and Singapore ... Riley shot a 5-under 67 to lead after the first round of stroke play, one stroke ahead of Horsfield and Joshua Seden ... Sean Crocker and Horsfield were co-medalists following the second round of stroke play, with 36-hole totals of 7-under 137 ... Eric Bae, who shot a first-round 76, followed it up with a second-round 67 that included a championship-record 29 on his inward nine ... A nine-way playoff for the final five match play spots commenced on Tuesday evening at the par-3 12th hole, where Justin Conant and Joshua McCarthy each made birdie to advance. The playoff continued at the par-5 13th hole, where David Laskin and Priyanshu Singh birdie and Dylan McCabe made a par to fill out the 64-player bracket ... Only two matches in the Round of 64 were decided in extra holes ... Charles Kim was disqualified when he was found to be in breach of Rule 14-3 during his round of 64 match against Philip Barbaree. Kim used an alignment device during his stipulated round ... Zalatoris was making his fifth appearance in the U.S. Junior Amateur, tying the championship record. He first qualified for the championship in 2009 as a 12-year-old, and narrowly missed qualifying for the 2013 U.S. Junior Amateur. No one has ever qualified for six U.S. Juniors ... Of the four semifinalists, only Riley did not already have a spot in the field at the 2014 U.S. Amateur at Atlanta Athletic Club, which he earned by making the championship final ... Zalatoris became the sixth Texan since 1999 to win the U.S. Junior Amateur.

Championship History

In 1948, the USGA inaugurated the U.S. Junior Amateur Championship to determine the best junior golfer in the United States and also to help junior golfers learn how to realize the most from the game, win or lose.

The Junior Amateur was hardly the first junior competition to attract a national field. The Western Junior had been established in 1914. In 1946, two more competitions appeared, each with a claim on the national title. One was sponsored by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, the other by the Hearst Newspapers.

The first U.S. Junior Amateur was played at the University of Michigan Golf Course and drew 495 entries. The starting field of 128 players was determined by sectional qualifying rounds at 41 sites. Dean Lind, of Rockford, Ill., was the first champion. Lind defeated Ken Venturi, of San Francisco, a future U.S. Open champion, in the final.

By 1963, entries had surged to 2,230, a record for the 13th consecutive year. At the time, there was no handicap limitation for entrants. That changed in 1964 when a handicap limit of 10 strokes was introduced. In 1999, the championship attracted a record 4,508 entries.

In 1978, the USGA conducted the Junior Amateur over the South Course of the Wilmington (Del.) Country Club, while the Girls' Junior was being staged on the North Course. This was the first time the USGA conducted two national championships simultaneously at the same golf club.

The Junior Amateur is among the most difficult of all USGA championships to win due to two factors: the age limit and the tremendous number of fine young players who enter each year. Only one player, Tiger Woods, has won the Junior Amateur three times, winning in 1991, 1992 and 1993. Jordan Spieth, who first won in 2009, became the second player to claim more than one title when he won the 2011 championship. In fact, only seven players have reached the final at least twice: Mason Rudolph (1949, 1950), Eddie Pearce (1968, 1969), Mike Brannan (1971, 1973); Tim Straub (1982, 1983); Woods; Spieth; and Jim Liu (2010, 2012).

Woods, who was 15 years, 6 months and 28 days old when he won in 1991, was the youngest champion until 2010. At 14 years, 11 months and 15 days, Liu broke Woods' record by more than six months with his victory.

The Junior Amateur has another, more dubious, distinction. It is the only USGA championship for which Jack Nicklaus has been eligible that he did not win at least once. Nicklaus qualified for the championship five times; however, his best finish came in 1956, when he was a semifinalist.

The Junior Amateur remains today an educational opportunity as well as a competitive outlet. Pre-championship players' dinners have attracted guest speakers such as Francis Ouimet, Arnold Palmer, Johnny Miller and Annika Sorenstam, all willing to share their knowledge and experience with young players.
