

SUNDAY, JUNE 21, 2015 – 5 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Happy Father's Day and Summer officially begins today as well! The beautiful sunrise this morning was thanks to the high clouds passing over our area. Look for sunshine through high clouds during the first half of the morning. Then those high clouds should begin to exit during the second half of the morning with mostly sunny skies anticipated for most, if not all, of this afternoon. Temperatures will be above normal once again this afternoon topping out in the upper 70s to around 80 degrees. North to occasionally northeast winds over next few hours may gust over 10 mph at times, but should be 5-10 mph most of the time. Then as we head from mid to late morning, we should notice the wind beginning to die down with relatively light north to northwest winds early to mid afternoon. Then as onshore flow pushes into the Puget Sound late today, look for winds to pick up more out of the west climbing towards 10 mph as we head from 5 PM to 8 PM. Onshore flow continues tonight and Monday with slightly cooler temps.
