

THURSDAY, AUGUST 18, 2016 – 6 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Oakland Hills received .44" of rain from the thunderstorm that pushed across the region late yesterday afternoon that caused our delay. Additionally the Club picked up .03" of rain from an isolated shower after 9 pm for a total of .47" for the day. As for today, we'll be treated to a good deal of sunshine; however, an isolated shower or storm can't be ruled out during the afternoon and evening hours, but the chance is a minimal 20%. Otherwise we're looking at highs in the mid 80s and dewpoints dropping to the low 60s, making it feel more comfortable. Winds will be light early on and increase slightly to primarily out of the west between 3-6 mph around 2 pm. Patchy clouds will be around tonight with light winds and lows dropping to upper 60s. Tomorrow we'll have a mix of sun and clouds on board, but there is a slightly higher (40%) chance for scattered showers and storms after 2 pm tomorrow. Tomorrow's highs will reach the mid 80s with winds out of the SW between 5-10 mph. Our better chance for rain and storms will occur over the weekend, especially Saturday night, as a larger system moves through.
