

USGA CORPORATE PARTNERS

In general, the USGA is a non-commercial association and this philosophy is especially true for our championships. That said, the USGA has developed a relationship with five (5) companies that are the USGA corporate partners. These companies support the USGA in many ways, helping the association fulfill its core missions. They are:

American Express: Payment system products and services. Travel services.

Cisco: Technology and digital platforms.

Deloitte: Provides audit, consulting, financial advisory, risk management, tax and related services to select clients.

Lexus: Automotive manufacturer, dealer, lessor, distributors of automobiles, vans, trucks, RVs or other motor vehicle.

Rolex: Watches and/or timepieces.

These corporate partners may or may not specifically have a role in the U.S. Amateur Championship. The USGA will help you determine these potential roles and what the corporate partners may need in return for this support.