Scott Harvey and Todd Mitchell Win the 2019 Championship

Todd Mitchell approached his partner, Scott Harvey, on the 17th green of Bandon Dunes Golf Resort's Old Macdonald Course and planted a hearty bear hug, the kind of embrace one gives for a big moment.

This was one of those appropriate situations.

After some close calls, including a runner-up finish in the 2008 U.S. Mid-Amateur, Mitchell had finally arrived at the mountain-top. Finally, he could call himself a USGA champion just like his partner, Harvey, did in the U.S. Mid-Amateur five years ago.

Playing in some of the most challenging conditions all week, Mitchell, 40, of Bloomington, Ill., and Harvey, a Kernersville, N.C., resident who was one day away from turning 41, defeated East Carolina University rising seniors Blake Taylor, 21, of Wilmington, N.C., and Logan Shuping, 21, of Salisbury, N.C., 2 and 1, in the 18-hole championship match of the 5th U.S. Amateur Four-Ball Championship.

After five trips to match play in this team event that began in 2015, including a semifinal showing in the inaugural competition at The Olympic Club in San Francisco, Harvey and Mitchell will have their names inscribed on a USGA trophy and forever be immortalized inside the USGA Golf Museum's Hall of Champions. They are the second mid-amateur side to claim the title, joining 2015 winners Nathan Smith and Todd White.

"I don't know that I can have a better feeling from a golf and competition side," said Mitchell, a former minor-league baseball player. "I know he won the Mid-Am by himself. As close as Scott and I have become over the past probably six years, I'm elated that it happened like this.

"I can't think of a better scenario than to do something like this with Scott. I mean, we live, I don't know, 800 miles away, and we talk every day; every single day. There's not a day that goes by unless, you know, he's on vacation somewhere, that we don't talk. And to share this with him means everything."

Added Harvey: "There's not enough team golf events, in my opinion. And like he said out there, this is the best event going currently, and it's just more fun. Everything you're doing is with someone. You're sharing every part of it with someone, and it just feels that much better."

Just like the previous day, the marine layer quickly lifted by mid-morning and was replaced by sunshine and blustery winds that averaged between 14 and 18 mph and gusted to as high as 28 mph. It made an already challenging layout even more difficult. To account for the wind, some tees were adjusted for the championship match from the morning semifinals.

After eliminating co-medalists and No. 3 seeds Troy Vannucci, 27, and Vince Kwon, 25, both of Marlton, N.J., in the semifinals, 4 and 3, Mitchell and Harvey grabbed an early 2-up lead in the final, thanks to consecutive birdies on Nos. 5 and 6.

But these Pirates (East Carolina's nickname) weren't about to let their older opponents steal the show. Taylor answered with a 3-foot birdie on the seventh and they tied the match on No. 10 with another Taylor birdie. They grabbed their only lead when both stuffed their approach shots on No. 13 to within 5 feet. Mitchell and Harvey, a property manager, both flew the green with their approach shots and registered just their second bogey of the entire championship (116 holes).

But the momentum turned on the 285-yard, par-4 14th hole. Shuping drove the green, but three-putted for par. Mitchell, however, made a nifty up-and-down birdie from below the green with a 60-degree wedge to tie the match.

"That was the shot of the match," said Harvey. "Then when [Shuping] three-putted, everything went in our direction ... Yeah, I felt like 14 was the match."

Mitchell, an insurance agent, followed with a 63-foot eagle putt with 25 feet of break on the par-5 15th hole that stopped 2 feet from the flagstick that their opponents conceded. The winning birdie put the side 1 up.

On the par-4 16th hole, Mitchell stuffed his blind 8-iron approach shot from 155 yards to 4 feet to set up another winning birdie.

"I finally showed up," said Mitchell of his winning birdies on Nos. 14-16.

The match concluded on No. 17 with matching pars, although Shuping thought he had made his 15-footer for birdie.

"Obviously, we'd like to be holding the trophy," said Shuping. "Any time you lose, you're not going to be that happy."

"But looking back on it, this is probably going to be my favorite week of golf ever. I mean, this is so much fun, having the family here, playing with Blake. We played so well. I mean, we even played well this afternoon. Those guys got hot, and they're great. That's what happens."

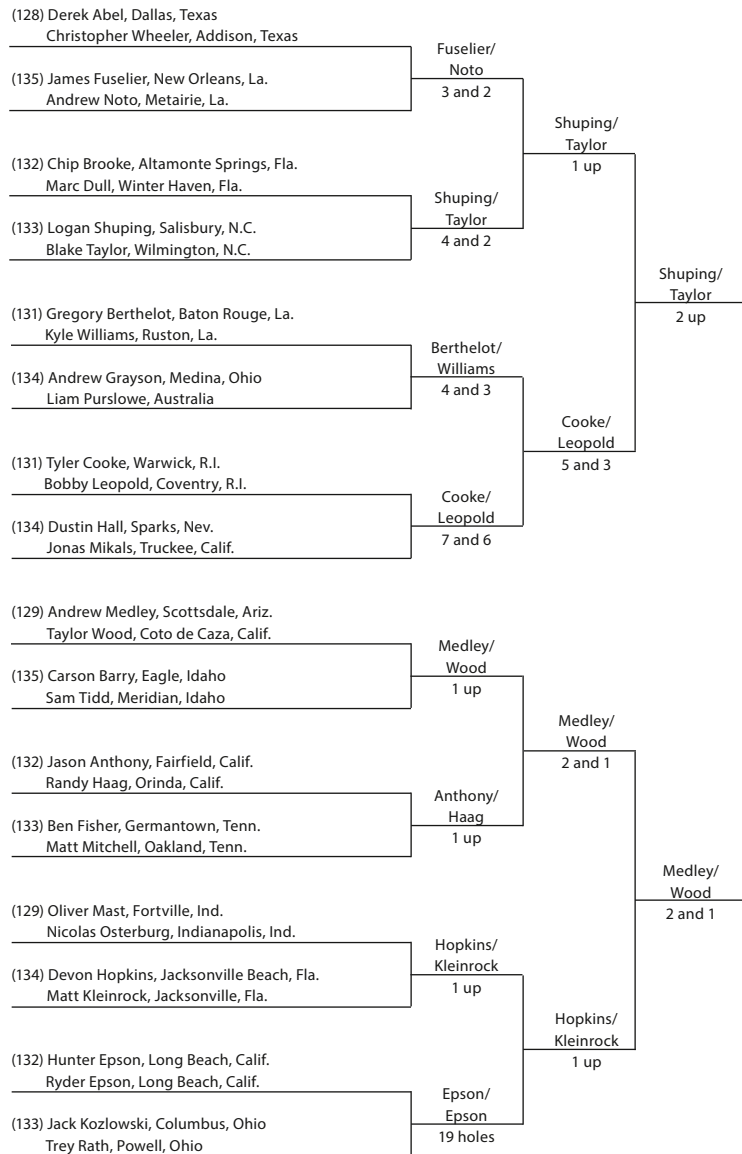

Being from North Carolina, Shuping and Taylor were well aware of Harvey's playing credentials on both a regional and national level. In addition to his USGA title, Harvey also was the runner-up in the 2016 U.S. Mid-Amateur and represented the USA in the 2015 Walker Cup Match. He also won the 2015 South American Amateur and qualified for the 2017 U.S. Open.

"He's known because he wins stuff like this," said Shuping. "So, we tried to stop him today, but he and Todd played great."

Taylor and Shuping earned their spot in the championship match by outlasting Andrew Medley, of Scottsdale, Ariz., and Taylor Wood, of Coto de Caza, Calif., 2 up, in the semifinals.

Championship History

The U.S. Amateur Four-Ball Championships were first played in 2015 but the genesis of these USGA competitions was years in the making.

As part of its mission to provide the best in national championship competition, the USGA began the process of developing and deploying these championships at the suggestion of Chief Executive Officer Mike Davis.

Through extensive research and cooperation from the nation's many state and regional golf associations, the planning and implementation by the USGA's Rules & Competitions department produced a proposal to the Executive Committee, which was passed and ultimately announced at the USGA Annual Meeting in San Diego in 2013.

"We couldn't be more excited about the creation of national four-ball championships, given the popularity and enjoyment of this competitive format at the amateur level," said USGA Vice President and Championship Committee Chairman Thomas J. O'Toole Jr., at the time of the announcement. "Because the four-ball format lends itself to spirited team competition and aggressive risk-reward shotmaking, we are confident these championships will deliver exciting amateur golf to the national stage for both players and spectators alike."

In 2012, more than 150 championships, either strictly four-ball or as part of a competition format, were conducted in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

The first two sites for each championship were announced in July of 2013: 2015 Four-Ball at The Olympic Club in San Francisco, Calif., and 2016 Four-Ball at Winged Foot Golf Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y. and the 2015 Women's Four-Ball at Bandon Dunes Golf Resort in Bandon, Ore., and the 2016 Women's Four-Ball at Streamsong Resort in Streamsong, Fla.

It marked the first time in 25 years, since the establishment of the U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur in 1987, that the USGA had added a new championship.

The establishment of the Four-Ball championships was first and foremost a reflection of the Association's continued commitment to supporting and growing amateur competition well into the future. A critical factor was that four-ball is a very popular event, not only at the club level, but through our state and regional golf associations who conduct championships like this every year and have for many years.

This format, more than most other formats, promotes camaraderie and perhaps players traveling together. The risk-reward element involved in two balls in play on each hole can produce some exciting golf and likely more birdies and eagles, which is attractive to competitors and viewers.

In the inaugural year, 2015, the Four-Ball championships were the first USGA competitions to be televised by the Association's new broadcast partner, Fox Sports, with both championships receiving four hours of live broadcast coverage.
