Blakesly Brock Wins the 2021 Championship

Blakesly Brock made sure noon turned into midnight for the Cinderella story of the 34th U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur Championship at Berkeley Hall Club. On a gorgeous Thursday morning in South Carolina's Lowcountry, Brock, 25, of Chattanooga, Tenn., denied Aliea Clark from becoming the first No. 64 seed to win a USGA championship.

The former University of Tennessee golfer won six consecutive holes starting on No. 7 to seize control of the 18-hole final match and earn a 5-and-4 victory. The win earned Brock an exemption into the 2022 U.S. Women's Open next June at Pine Needles Lodge & Golf Club in Southern Pines, N.C.

At 25 years, 10 months and 20 days, Brock is the third-youngest champion in U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur history behind Lauren Greenleaf (25/0/25) and Sarah Ingram (25/3/26).

"I'm speechless. This has been an absolute dream week for me," said Brock, who won the 2021 Tennessee Women's Mid-Amateur just prior to this championship. "I'm so happy. The course has been phenomenal. I've enjoyed it. The superintendent has done a great job, especially with the rain we had at the start of the week. The USGA has been absolutely incredible. It's a dream."

Clark, a 25-year-old native of San Diego, Calif., who now is a graduate student at New York University, was only the second No. 64 seed to reach a USGA final, joining Alexandra Frazier, who lost in the championship match of the 2010 U.S. Senior Women's Amateur at Fiddlesticks Country Club in Fort Myers, Fla., the site of next year's U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur.

Five days ago, Clark looked like she might be heading home without ever teeing it up in the match-play portion of the championship. She finished stroke play 23 strokes behind record-setting medalist Jennifer Peng and needed a birdie on the first hole of a 5-for-1 playoff to nab the final spot in the draw.

That set up a first-round encounter with Peng, her good friend and U.S. Women's Amateur Four-Ball partner. But Clark pulled off a stunning 1-up win and then proceeded to play like a top seed over her next four matches, never going beyond the 16th hole. That was until Thursday's championship match.

Meanwhile, Brock was creating her own magic at Berkeley Hall, winning extra-hole matches in the Round of 16, quarter-finals and semifinals, the latter a 19-hole decision over 2018 champion Shannon Johnson.

She would not need such drama on Thursday, despite going 1 down following a bogey on the par-3 sixth.

Clark's cold putter contributed as well. While the former UCLA golfer's ball-striking was solid the entire match, she three-putted for bogey on several greens. With the match tied through six holes, Clark missed a 10-footer for par to lose the seventh hole, then watched Brock made a 12-foot birdie after she missed from 15 feet to lose the eighth, and she lipped out a 3-foot par putt on No. 9 to go 2 down at the turn.

"I felt confident all day," said Brock. "I knew I was hitting it great. For me, I was trying not to worry too much about what she was doing and just play my own game. I think the key for me this week was I never really got down on myself. I just held my head high the entire time and just tried to commit to my line and my speed.

"That [putt] on 8 was a big momentum change for me when I made birdie there. I felt confident with my putting, and for me, that's the key."

Clark's game continued to slide on the second nine as three more bogeys on Nos. 10-12 pushed Brock's lead to 5 up.

"The greens were tough today," said Clark. "I couldn't get my speed down. But it's okay. I made the finals, it's great."

Notable

Clark, the runner-up received a silver medal, a three-year exemption into the U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur Championship and an exemption into the 2022 U.S. Women's Amateur.

This was the first championship match with finalists in their first year of eligibility. Mid-amateurs are golfers who are 25 and older.

The 5-and-4 margin of victory was the largest in a final since Meghan Stasi defeated Liz Waynick, 6 and 5, in 2012 at Briggs Ranch in San Antonio, Texas.

Brock was the second golfer with ties to the University of Tennessee women's golf team to make a USGA final in 2021. Current freshman Bailey Davis lost in the U.S. Girls' Junior championship match in July to world No. 1 Rose Zhang.

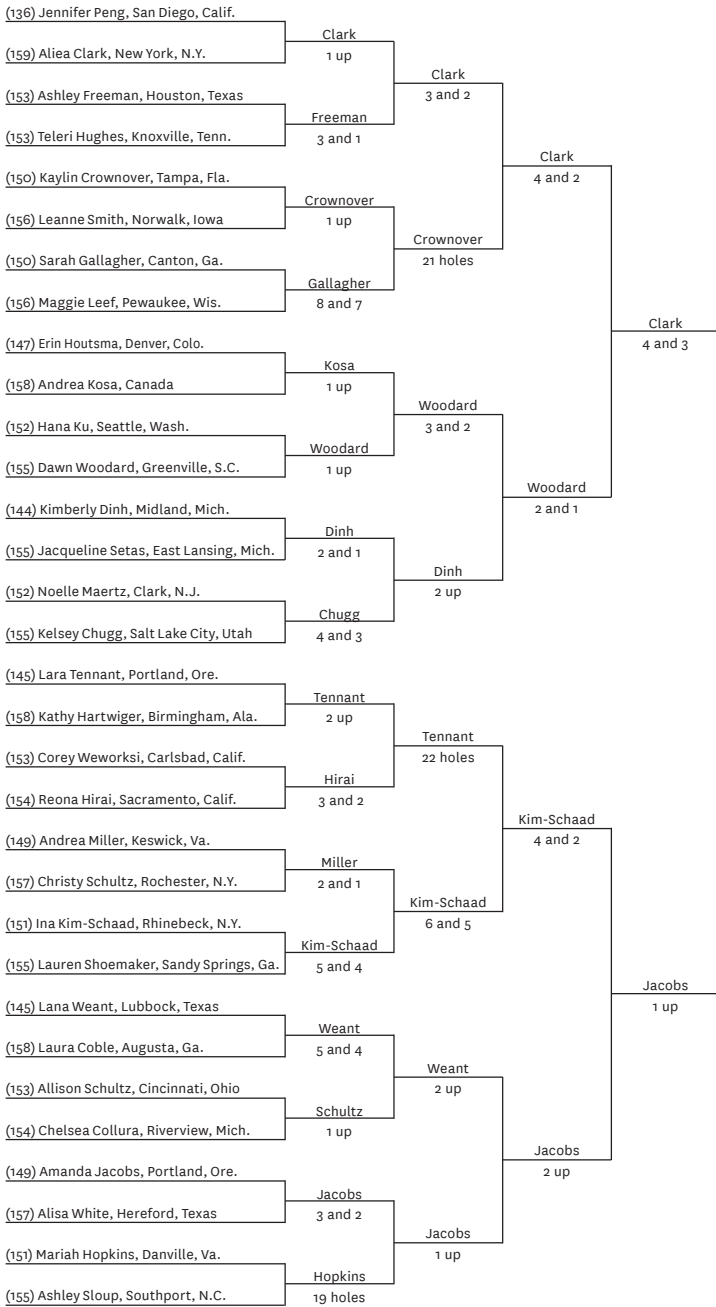

Martin Rather, who is in law school at Harvard, flew in to watch his good friend, Aliea Clark. Rather is the grandson of famed journalist Dan Rather and a former student at NYU, where Clark is in graduate school.

Quotable

"I actually came straight from [winning] the Tennessee Mid-Am, hopped in the car right after the last round and came down for a practice round the very next morning. You know, when I showed up at the golf course, I had a feeling. I just had a feeling it was going to be my week. I played great at the Tennessee Mid-Am, and I knew I was good enough to win this golf tournament. I came in not really expecting to win but knowing that I could, and that gave me a lot of confidence." – Blakesly Brock on her mindset this week.

Championship History

The U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur Championship began in 1987 as a result of a need determined by an ad hoc committee headed by Dena Nowotny, a member of the USGA Women's Committee.

The Women's Mid-Amateur, the USGA's 13th championship, was created to provide a national competitive arena for amateurs age 25 and older.

By 1987, it had become increasingly difficult for female amateur golfers beyond college to compete equitably with their collegiate counterparts, for whom golf was nearly a full-time vocation. One must go back to 1973 and Carol Semple Thompson to find the last career amateur to win the U.S. Women's Amateur.

As with any new championship, there was initial concern with the level of entries. In this case, women amateurs responded with enthusiasm. The first championship attracted 320 entries, only 29 fewer than the number that had entered the 1987 Women's Amateur a few weeks earlier.

The starting field of 135 players was determined by sectional qualifying. The first Women's Mid-Amateur was played at Southern Hills Country Club in Tulsa, Okla., and was won by Cindy Scholefield, 27, of Malibu, Calif.

The Women's Mid-Amateur has been the setting for a number of noteworthy finals. In 1989, Robin Weiss, of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., defeated Page Marsh Lea on the 22nd hole. In 1990, despite the tremendous pressure of competing on her home course as a crowd favorite, Carol Semple Thompson, 41, of Sewickley, Pa., defeated Marsh Lea, 3 and 1, at the Allegheny Country Club, where Semple Thompson had learned the game.

Two women have won the Women's Mid-Amateur on four occasions. In 2011, Ellen Port, of St. Louis, Mo., captured her fourth championship title with a 2-and-1 victory over 2009 champion Martha Leach at Bayville Golf Club in Virginia Beach, Va. Having previously won in 1991, 1993 and 2000, Port's 11-year span between victories broke the record of seven years, set by Thompson in 1997.

The following year, Meghan Stasi, of Oakland Park, Fla., won her fourth Women's Mid-Amateur, taking a 6-and-5 victory over Liz Waynick at Briggs Ranch Golf Club in San Antonio, Texas. She won back-to-back titles in 2006 and 2007 under her maiden name of Bolger, and also took the victory in 2010.

Sarah LeBrun Ingram, of Nashville, Tenn., in 1994 became the first player to take consecutive Women's Mid-Amateur championships. She had previously won in 1991 and 1993.

In 2020, the U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.
