Krissy Carman Wins the 2022 Championship

Two-year-old Conrad Carman is much too young to realize what his mother accomplished on the Long Mean Course at Fiddlesticks Country Club in Fort Myers, Fla., on Thursday, or the reason for the ensuing celebratory trip across the state to Disney World.

But Krissy Carman will have plenty of stories, photos, articles and videos to share with her son in future years after Thursday's 2-and-1 triumph over Aliea Clark in the 18-hole final of the 35th U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur Championship, as she became the first mother to win this title since Ellen Port in 2011.

The victory also earns Carman a spot in the 2023 U.S. Women's Open Presented by ProMedica at iconic Pebble Beach (Calif.) Golf Links.

Clark, 26, a third-year graduate student at New York University, saw her dreams of a title dashed for a second consecutive year. The Carlsbad, Calif., native, who reached the final in 2021 as a Cinderella No. 64 seed, joins Page Marsh Lea (1988-89) as the only players to lose consecutive championship matches in the U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur.

It turned out to be quite a week along Florida's Gulf Coast for the entire Carman family. Husband Mitch served as Krissy's caddie, while her 67-year-old mother, Suzanne Peterson, who preceded her as an Oregon State University golfer, took care of young Conrad, born just days before COVID-19 shut down the country in March 2020.

"I'm in disbelief; feels amazing," said Carman with a smile. "Obviously I planned out our outfits for the week. I was just hoping that we would be able to wear all the matching ones, and it happened."

Golf has been in Carman's DNA since she was a toddler in Eugene, Ore. Suzanne and her late husband, Richard, met at Rose City Golf Course in Portland, and Krissy followed her mom to Oregon State before transferring to Portland State prior to her junior season. In 2018, she qualified for the U.S. Women's Amateur Four-Ball with partner Hannah Swanson, but once she got married and had Conrad, the game took a backseat to family.

Only within the last year, when the couple discovered that Conrad loved being in a jogging stroller while they played golf, has Krissy, 27, rekindled her competitive juices.

"My siblings, everyone was just like, do it, do it, do it," said Carman. "It's incredible. I just had so much support the past couple weeks and past couple months playing in events again."

That showed up this week in her first U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur start when she earned the No. 5 seed in stroke play and proceeded to plow her way through the bracket. She trailed for the first time in 62 match-play holes when medalist Jennifer Peng grabbed an early 1-up lead in their semifinal encounter on Wednesday. It was short-lived as Carman rallied for a 3-and-2 win.

Clark, who had trailed in four of her five matches leading into the final, twice led Carman by a hole, but a balky putter eventually would betray the former UCLA golfer. Clark failed to make a birdie and missed a few short par putts that kept the momentum with Carman.

Winning pars on Nos. 15 and 17 eventually sealed the title for Carman, the latter coming when Clark failed to get up and down from a greenside bunker on the 142-yard par 3.

"I was exhausted, but I did my best," said Clark. "I just felt like all week I didn't even think twice about 5-footers. I had the line, put a good roll on it; and today I thought I had the line, I kept my head down, and I was just really shocked they weren't in the hole. That's not a great feeling."

Carman registered the first of her two birdies on the par-5 fourth hole when her 75-yard wedge approach hit the flagstick and stopped 4 feet from the hole to tie the match. She added a birdie on the 335-yard seventh hole for a 1-up lead, but made consecutive bogeys on Nos. 8 and 9 to give Clark a 1-up advantage.

After both players bogeyed No. 10, Carman strung together seven consecutive pars while her opponent struggled to find the putting touch that carried her throughout the week.

Clark now heads back to New York to complete her three-year double-master's degree in business administration and fine arts. Having interned this summer in the Atlanta, Ga., office of McKinsey & Company, she has a job lined up with the global management consulting firm next year, following graduation and a tour of Europe.

Carman also joins a list of Oregon USGA champions that includes Jeff Quinney (2000 U.S. Amateur), Peter Jacobsen (2004 U.S. Senior Open), Lara Tennant (2018-19, 2021 U.S. Senior Women's Amateur), Mary Budke (1972 U.S. Amateur), Jason Allred (1997 U.S. Junior Amateur) and John Fought (1977 U.S. Amateur)

Championship History

The U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur Championship began in 1987 as a result of a need determined by an ad hoc committee headed by Dena Nowotny, a member of the USGA Women's Committee.

The Women's Mid-Amateur, the USGA's 13th championship, was created to provide a national competitive arena for amateurs age 25 and older.

By 1987, it had become increasingly difficult for female amateur golfers beyond college to compete equitably with their collegiate counterparts, for whom golf was nearly a full-time vocation. One must go back to 1973 and Carol Semple Thompson to find the last career amateur to win the U.S. Women's Amateur.

As with any new championship, there was initial concern with the level of entries. In this case, women amateurs responded with enthusiasm. The first championship attracted 320 entries, only 29 fewer than the number that had entered the 1987 Women's Amateur a few weeks earlier.

The starting field of 135 players was determined by sectional qualifying. The first Women's Mid-Amateur was played at Southern Hills Country Club in Tulsa, Okla., and was won by Cindy Scholefield, 27, of Malibu, Calif.

The Women's Mid-Amateur has been the setting for a number of noteworthy finals. In 1989, Robin Weiss, of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., defeated Page Marsh Lea on the 22nd hole. In 1990, despite the tremendous pressure of competing on her home course as a crowd favorite, Carol Semple Thompson, 41, of Sewickley, Pa., defeated Marsh Lea, 3 and 1, at the Allegheny Country Club, where Semple Thompson had learned the game.

Two women have won the Women's Mid-Amateur on four occasions. In 2011, Ellen Port, of St. Louis, Mo., captured her fourth championship title with a 2-and-1 victory over 2009 champion Martha Leach at Bayville Golf Club in Virginia Beach, Va. Having previously won in 1991, 1993 and 2000, Port's 11-year span between victories broke the record of seven years, set by Thompson in 1997.

The following year, Meghan Stasi, of Oakland Park, Fla., won her fourth Women's Mid-Amateur, taking a 6-and-5 victory over Liz Waynick at Briggs Ranch Golf Club in San Antonio, Texas. She won back-to-back titles in 2006 and 2007 under her maiden name of Bolger, and also took the victory in 2010.

Sarah LeBrun Ingram, of Nashville, Tenn., in 1994 became the first player to take consecutive Women's Mid-Amateur championships. She had previously won in 1991 and 1993.

In 2020, the U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.
