Aaron Du and Sampson Zheng Win the 2023 Championship

Aaron Du and Sampson Zheng did not get the opportunity to play for an NCAA title this coming weekend in Arizona, so a USGA national championship is a mighty good substitute.

The two 21-year-old rising seniors at the University of California-Berkeley, whose team missed qualifying for NCAAs by three strokes exactly a week ago in Norman, Okla., capped off a remarkable five days at Kiawah Island Club by winning the 8th U.S. Amateur Four-Ball Championship with a 2-and-1 victory over Drew Kittleson and Drew Stoltz in the 18-hole final at the Cassique Course.

They are the first No. 1 seeds to claim the championship, and the second consecutive co-medalists to hoist the trophy, following Chad Wilfong and Davis Womble a year ago at the Country Club of Birmingham (Ala.). They are also the second and third Cal golfers to hoist a USGA trophy; Ben An, who attended the school for one year (2010-11), won the 2009 U.S. Amateur at 17 a year prior to coming to Berkeley.

“For me it’s history,” said Zheng. “Our names are going to go down forever in history. Fifty years, 100 years later when this tournament continues on, our names are going to be on [that trophy]. That’s such an amazing thing to think about.”

Du and Zheng joined 2022 U.S. Junior Amateur champion Wenyi Ding as the only male golfers from the People’s Republic of China to claim a USGA title, and the fifth overall from the country following Fumi (Alice) Jo (2014 U.S. Women’s Amateur Public Links) and Lei Ye (2019 U.S. Girls’ Junior).

“There aren’t too many champions from China at this level,” added Zheng, “so I really hope that this can inspire junior golfers in China to do the same in the future.”

Scottsdale, Ariz., residents Kittleson, 34, and Stoltz, 38, lost in the championship match for a second consecutive year after a tough 19-hole match to Wilfong/Womble. Kittleson, a reinstated amateur, also was the runner-up to Danny Lee in the 2008 U.S. Amateur at Pinehurst during his collegiate days at Florida State.

“Last year we were close,” said Stoltz, a father of two young children. “At this point after two [finals] would you rather just dip out in stroke play or would you rather get your hopes up and then come up short again? But we had a helluva week. This is one of my best friends on the planet. There’s no other dude I’d want to go to war with. He hit some unbelievable shots, and yeah, maybe today was just a case of running out of gas. But for whatever reason the [putts] didn’t fall for us.”

Both sides came into the final 36 under par for the week, with the usual match-play concessions. Du and Zheng had played 100 holes, including stroke play, while Kittleson and Stoltz, who hosts a Sirius/XM Radio show on the PGA Tour Network with two-time USGA champion Colt Knost, had played 109.

But it was the college kids who made more birdies (6 to 4), including three on the second nine that clinched the match. The first came at the par-5 11th with the match tied. Facing a 96-yard approach into the wind and a challenging hole location, Du stuffed his 52-degree wedge to 4 feet. Then on the 180-yard 13th, Zheng’s punch 6-iron stopped 14 feet from the flagstick, and he converted. Back on Sunday during the final round of stroke play, Zheng made eight consecutive birdies and 10 overall.

After missing a 4-footer for birdie on the par-5 15th that trimmed the deficit back to 1 up – Stoltz converted from 6 feet – Zheng delivered another clutch 6-iron on the 196-yard 16th hole. From just off the green, he calmly rolled in a 12-footer that included a fist pump and a 2-up lead.

On the 380-yard 17th hole, both Du and Zheng had wedge approaches inside 60 yards, while Kittleson’s 300-plus drive over the penalty area was just off the putting surface. Du and Zheng knocked their second shots to 8 and 4 feet, respectively. Kittleson, trying to force the match to No. 18, nearly holed out his 15-yard pitch for a conceded birdie.

Du, putting first, executed his birdie putt perfectly, and after emotional hugs, they were hoisting the U.S. Amateur Four-Ball Trophy.

“I’ve always dreamed having that putt to win the tournament,” said Du. “And that moment it was just so special. It’s a dream come true to be able to have that putt in the first place, and then making it, obviously with my partner, Sampson here, it doesn’t get any better than this.”

Kittleson, the father of a 5-year-old, and Stoltz both had good looks at birdie on the front nine, but missed great chances at Nos. 6 and 8 before Stoltz ran in a 5-footer for birdie on the ninth to tie the match.

“Yeah, tough day,” said Kittleson. “Didn’t really make that many putts in the afternoon match. Just came up short. I don’t really know what else to say. Had a great time, great venue, course is awesome, USGA was great, volunteers were awesome. Partner was awesome.”

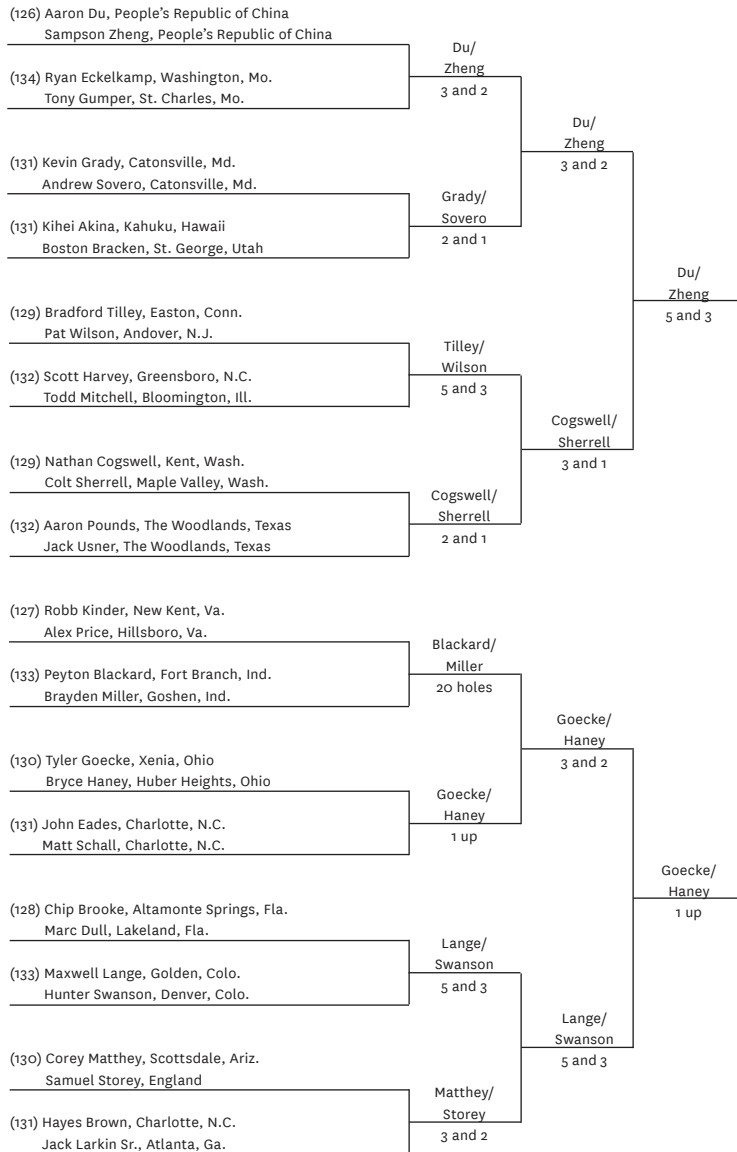

In the semifinals earlier that same day, Du and Zheng made seven birdies in outlasting Ohioans and ex-Wright State teammates Tyler Goecke and Bryce Haney, 2 and 1. Zheng converted a 15-footer on the 17th hole to close out the match.

Kittleson ripped a 310-yard drive on the 380-yard, par-4 17th to 6 feet, and his conceded eagle led to a 2-up victory over 2022 semifinalists and co-medalists Carter Loflin, of Duluth, Ga., and Wells Williams, of West Point, Miss.

Notable - The runners-up received silver medals and exemptions into the next three U.S. Amateur Four-Ball Championships, while the semifinalists received bronze medals and earned a two-year exemption.

Championship History

The U.S. Amateur Four-Ball Championships were first played in 2015 but the genesis of these USGA competitions was years in the making.

As part of its mission to provide the best in national championship competition, the USGA began the process of developing and deploying these championships at the suggestion of Mike Davis, who served as the USGA's chief executive officer from 2011-21.

Through extensive research and cooperation from the nation's many state and regional golf associations, the planning and implementation by the USGA's Rules & Competitions department produced a proposal to the Executive Committee, which was passed and ultimately announced at the USGA Annual Meeting in San Diego in 2013.

"We couldn't be more excited about the creation of national four-ball championships, given the popularity and enjoyment of this competitive format at the amateur level," said USGA Vice President and Championship Committee Chairman Thomas J. O'Toole Jr., at the time of the announcement. "Because the four-ball format lends itself to spirited team competition and aggressive risk-reward shotmaking, we are confident these championships will deliver exciting amateur golf to the national stage for both players and spectators alike."

In 2012, more than 150 championships, either strictly four-ball or as part of a competition format, were conducted in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

The first two sites for each championship were announced in July of 2013: 2015 Four-Ball at The Olympic Club in San Francisco, Calif., and 2016 Four-Ball at Winged Foot Golf Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y. and the 2015 Women's Four-Ball at Bandon Dunes Golf Resort in Bandon, Ore., and the 2016 Women's Four-Ball at Streamsong Resort in Streamsong, Fla.

It marked the first time in 25 years, since the establishment of the U.S. Women's Mid-Amateur in 1987, that the USGA had added a new championship.

The establishment of the Four-Ball championships was first and foremost a reflection of the Association's continued commitment to supporting and growing amateur competition well into the future. A critical factor was that four-ball is a very popular event, not only at the club level, but through our state and regional golf associations (now Allied Golf Associations) who conduct championships like this every year and have for many years.

This format, more than most other formats, promotes camaraderie and perhaps players traveling together. The risk-reward element involved in two balls in play on each hole can produce some exciting golf and likely more birdies and eagles, which is attractive to competitors and fans.

In the inaugural year, 2015, the Four-Ball championships were the first USGA competitions to be televised by the Association's then broadcast partner, Fox Sports, with both championships receiving four hours of live broadcast coverage.

In 2020, the U.S. Amateur Four-Ball was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.
