Aphrodite Deng Wins the 2025 Championship

With a name fit for a champion and a game to match, Aphrodite Deng cemented her place in golf history on Saturday at Atlanta Athletic Club's Riverside Course. The 15-year-old from Canada emerged victorious at the 76th U.S. Girls' Junior Championship, defeating Xingtong Chen, 16, of Singapore, 2 and 1, becoming the first Canadian to win the prestigious title also owned by the likes of Hall of Famers Mickey Wright, JoAnne Gunderson Carner, Amy Alcott and Nancy Lopez, as well as current LPGA Tour stars Lexi Thompson, Minjee Lee, Ariya Jutanugarn and Rose Zhang.

"It really means a lot. I just can't believe that I won," said Deng. "I didn't really think about the end result because I knew there were a lot of good players here. I just tried to win each match."

Deng, the more experienced player, came out strong with a birdie on the opening hole to take an early 1-up lead. But Chen, showing plenty of composure, responded by winning the second with a par and grabbing a 1-up advantage of her own after a birdie at No. 4.

Earlier this year, Deng captured the Junior Invitational at Sage Valley and the Mizuho Americas Open, rising to No. 36 in the World Amateur Golf Ranking®/WAGR®, the fourth highest of any junior.

The opening stretch of the 36-hole championship match felt like a heavyweight battle, with only two of the first seven holes tied. But from there, Deng found another gear. After taking Nos. 6 and 7, she stood on the 10th tee, 1 up, and then pulled away. She won three of the next four holes, highlighted by back-to-back birdies on 12 and 13, to stretch her lead to 4 up and seize control of the match at the lunch break.

But Chen showed no signs of backing down. Coming out of the 90-minute break, she immediately cut into the deficit with a birdie on the par-5 19th hole, narrowing Deng's lead to 3 up. She continued to chip away with another birdie on the 23rd hole of the match.

Deng, unfazed by the momentum shift, responded by winning the par-3 24th hole with a clutch birdie of her own.

Once again, Chen proved she belonged on this stage, draining a 10-foot birdie on the par-3 26th to trim the deficit back to 2 down. On the 27th hole, both players faced par putts inside five feet, but Chen's slipped by, allowing Deng to capitalize with yet another timely response, winning the hole and stretching her lead back to 3 up. The momentum continued on the very next hole, where Deng confidently holed a 10-footer for birdie. Chen had a chance to match with a similar 7-foot look but couldn't convert, and just like that, Deng's lead was back to 4, the same margin she held at the mid-day break.

But in what felt like a same-day déjà vu, Chen refused to go quietly. She won the 30th hole, only for Deng to respond with a win on the 31st. Chen then rallied again, taking holes 32 and 34 to extend the match to the par-3 35th. There, Deng finally sealed the victory with a clutch 4-foot par putt.

For Chen, her first trip to the United States turned into a life-changing journey. After earning medalist honors with a 72 in her U.S. Girls' Junior qualifier on June 16 in Missouri, she headed to Massachusetts for an American Junior Golf Association event, where she finished fifth.

Next stop: San Diego, where she competed in the Junior World Championships at Torrey Pines, placing T-13 among a strong international field. Just one day after wrapping up there, she arrived in Atlanta on July 11, not expecting to necessarily qualify for match play.

"Definitely saw a lot of positives out there," said Chen. "Just being able to keep my focus and my spirit throughout these 35 holes, and not giving up, even though I was like 4 down or whatever. I think it definitely gave me a lot more confidence because previously I had a lot of doubts about myself, just would I be able to make it even just as an amateur golfer, trying to get into college. But I think after this week, I definitely have a lot more confidence, and just trust my game a bit more."

Notable

Aphrodite Deng becomes the first Canadian to win the U.S. Girls' Junior, and joins a list of USGA champions from Canada that includes World Golf Hall of Fame inductee Marlene Stewart Streit and two-time U.S. Amateur champion Gary Cowan.

Runner-up Xingtong Chen received a silver medal and a three-year exemption into the U.S. Girls' Junior. She also earned a spot into the U.S. Women's Amateur, but is choosing not to play in the event due to scheduling conflicts.

Next year's U.S. Girls' Junior will be conducted at the Old Chatham Golf Club, in Durham, N.C., July 13-18.

Golf course architect Tripp Davis, who was an NCAA All-American selection at Oklahoma University and a member of its 1989 national championship team, served as the first tee started for the afternoon portion of the championship match. Davis led the renovation to the Riverside Course at Atlanta Athletic Club.

As the runner-up and champion of the U.S. Girls' Junior at Atlanta Athletic Club, both Xingtong Chen and Aphrodite Deng received replica Calamity Jane putters as a gift from the club. That was the putter used by Atlanta Athletic Club member Bob Jones when he won the Grand Slam in 1930.

Championship History

The U.S. Girls' Junior Championship was established in 1949, one year after the U.S. Junior Amateur Championship. Philadelphia (Pa.) Country Club, one of the oldest golf courses in the nation, was the host club for the USGA's newest championship. The club's Bala Course was constructed in 1891, three years before the birth of the USGA.

The inaugural Girls' Junior drew a starting field of 28 girls from 17 states, although 10 of the players were from the Philadelphia area.

More impressive than the size of the field or the styles of play was the wonderful spirit and sportsmanship the contestants brought to the game, and their complete lack of pretense.

The first champion, 15-year-old Marlene Bauer, came all the way from Los Angeles to win her first national golf title. While golf for girls beyond the club level was still a novelty, Bauer had been encouraged by her father, a golf professional, since the age of 3. Her victory in the first Girls' Junior was the springboard for a long and distinguished career.

The championship has also helped launch the careers of such outstanding players as Mickey Wright, who won in 1952 and later captured four U.S. Women's Open Championships, and JoAnne Gunderson Carner, who won the first of her eight USGA titles in the 1956 Girls' Junior. Nancy Lopez won in 1972 and 1974, interrupted in 1973 by Amy Alcott, who went on to win the Women's Open in 1980.

Considering the brevity and time limitations on a junior golf career, Hollis Stacy's record of three consecutive Girls'

Junior Championships, from 1969 to 1971, is among the most remarkable accomplishments in USGA history. Stacy, however, never made it easy. The final matches of her first two championships went 18 holes. In her last victory, in 1971, Stacy needed 4-under-par golf to eventually defeat Alcott at the 19th hole. From the third through the 17th holes, neither player made a bogey; between them they made nine birdies. The match is regarded as one of the finest in USGA history.

With her last victory, Stacy became only the seventh golfer to win USGA championships in three successive years. She later won the Women's Open Championship in 1977, 1978 and 1984.

Kay Cornelius, the 1981 winner, is among the noteworthy champions. Her mother, Kathy Cornelius, won the 1956 U.S. Women's Open. They remain the only mother-daughter tandem to have captured USGA championships.

While victory in the U.S. Girls' Junior by no means guarantees a successful career in women's golf, Girls' Junior champions have won the Women's Amateur 14 times and the Women's Open 13 times. Furthermore, 20 Girls' Junior champions have gone on to represent the USA on the Curtis Cup Team through 2024, including such names as Heather Farr, Gunderson Carner, Lopez, Stacy and Lexi Thompson.

In 2020, the U.S. Girls' Junior was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.
