

U.S. Adaptive Open Championship 5th Record Book 2026

Kipp Popert and Kim Moore Win the 2025 Championship

Move over, Tiger... you have some fresh company in the USGA record books. Kipp Popert won the U.S. Adaptive Open for a third straight year, becoming just the fourth male player in history to win the same USGA championship three times in a row.

The 27-year-old from England joins Woods, who remains the only person to accomplish the feat in two different championships – the 1991-93 U.S. Junior Amateur and 1994-96 U.S. Amateur. Carl Kauffmann (1927-29 U.S. Amateur Public Links) and Willie Anderson (1903-05 U.S. Open) are the others.

“It’s definitely been on my mind,” said Popert, who has cerebral palsy that affects his lower extremities, about the chance to make history with a three-peat. “When I had surgery this year and my foot wasn’t getting better, I wasn’t looking forward to the thought of not being able to try. To come here and play the way I did, I’m really pleased.

“I also can’t thank my caddie Ben [Armstrong] enough. He’s been on the bag for all three, so he’s won three as well.”

Joining Popert in the winner’s circle is Kim Moore, another familiar face in the history of this championship. Moore, 44, of Battle Creek, Mich., started the day three strokes out of the lead but played a steady, solid round to overtake Cassie Sengul and become the first two-time female champion of the U.S. Adaptive Open. She won the inaugural title in 2022 at Pinehurst No. 6.

“It feels just as good as the first time,” said a beaming Moore, who was born without a right foot and a slight case of spina bifida. “This was definitely something I was looking forward to and hoping to accomplish, and it’s just nice to be able to be on top again.”

For Popert, Wednesday’s final round was a stress-free coronation. He began the day with a 10-stroke lead after setting the 36-hole championship scoring record (61-66—127) and kept his foot on the gas in shooting a 7-under 65, winning by 12 over Simon Lee (Intellectual Impairment), of the Republic of Korea, and Lachlan Wood (Lower Limb Impairment), of Australia. While Lee, the 2022 men’s overall champion, recorded five birdies in the first nine holes to go out in 31, neither he – nor any of the other players in the last few groups – were able to apply any real pressure.

Popert also made five birdies on the front nine, offset by one bogey, and stuck to his game plan of hitting fairways and trying to hit his approach shots as close as possible when given opportunities. He ended the week with only four bogeys over 54 holes.

Moore faced an uphill battle en route to hoisting the trophy for the second time. She held the first-round lead but struggled to an 83 in Tuesday’s second round.

“Yesterday was definitely not the best,” said Moore. “Today I just really tried to stay positive. That was my mental mindset today. I felt like my mental game was a little weak yesterday and that really got to me. So that made a good difference for sure.”

Meanwhile, Sengul shot a second-round 75 to seize the overnight lead. However, it wasn’t meant to be for the 19-year-old from nearby Manassas, Va., who started her final round double bogey-bogey and wasn’t able to recapture the touch around the greens that helped her the first two days. Still, it was an uplifting week for the rising sophomore at Drew University, in Madison, N.J., who has cerebral palsy.

“I’m so grateful for all the support this past week here,” said Sengul. “This facility is everything a golfer can dream of, so I’m really excited to be back here next year and hopefully bring it back home.”

The following players take home medals for being the winners of their respective categories: Bailey Bish, Tucson, Ariz. (Coordination Impairment, women); Kipp Popert, England (Coordination Impairment, men); Natasha Stasiuk, Canada (Intellectual Impairment, women); Simon Lee, Republic of Korea (Intellectual Impairment, men); Kim Moore, Battle Creek, Mich. (Lower Limb Impairment, women); Lachlan Wood, Australia (Lower Limb Impairment, men); Rose Veldman, Los Angeles, Calif. (Multiple Limb Amputee, women); Issa Nlaleb, France (Multiple Limb Amputee, men); Max Togisala, South Ogden, Utah (Seated Players, men); Brendan Lawlor, Ireland (Short Stature, men); Abigail Davis, Houston, Texas (Upper Limb Impairment, women); Jesse Florkowski, Canada (Upper Limb Impairment, men); Amanda Cunha, Kaneohe, Hawaii (Vision Impairment, women); Kiefer Jones, Canada (Vision Impairment, men)

Notable

Chad Pfeifer was the low American on the men’s side, finishing alone in 5th place. He competes in the Lower Limb Impairment category and improved his score by three strokes each day, with rounds of 74-71-68. Pfeifer lost his left leg in 2007 in an explosion while serving for the U.S. Army in Iraq.

The defending women’s champion, Bailey Bish, had the round of the day among female competitors. Bish, 25, of Tucson, Ariz., had two birdies on her outward nine and also birdied two of the last three holes to record a 1-over 73. She also won the female coordination impairment category.

Max Togisala, who was paralyzed in a skiing accident in 2022 and watched the first U.S. Adaptive Open from his hospital bed, also accomplished a three-peat, winning the male seated players category for the third time in a row. Togisala, 21, of Clearfield, Utah, set the record for lowest round by a seated player in championship history with a first-round 67.

Championship History

The USGA has established the U.S. Adaptive Open Championship, a national championship that showcases the world's best golfers with disabilities in 2022. The inaugural competition was conducted on Course No. 6 at historic Pinehurst Resort & Country Club. The 2nd U.S. Adaptive Open was also held on Pinehurst No. 6 in 2023.

The U.S. Adaptive Open Championship serves as the association's 15th national championship, joining such iconic events as the U.S. Open, U.S. Women's Open, U.S. Amateur and U.S. Women's Amateur. Champions of this new event will see their names recorded in the annals of golf history alongside many of the game's storied figures.

The announcement of the championship follows through on a 2017 pledge by the USGA to establish this championship for the adaptive golf community.

"Since 1895, our championships have provided the world's best players with an opportunity to showcase their skills on a global stage, compete for a national championship and achieve their dreams," said John Bodenhamer, USGA senior managing director, Championships at the time of the announcement. "After years of planning and delays caused by the global pandemic, we are proud to bring that same opportunity to the adaptive golf community through this championship, and to do so at Pinehurst, our second home. We believe this effort will spur participation for golfers with disabilities and hope it inspires others in the industry to make the game and its competitions more welcoming to all."

The championship is contested over 54 holes of stroke play. It is open to males and females, professionals and amateurs, with either physical impairment, sensory impairment (vision), or intellectual impairment, who have a WR4GD Pass as well as an authorized World Handicap System (WHS) Handicap Index®.

In 2024, the USGA announced three new exemption categories and implemented six qualifiers for the championship.

Exemptions were added for the overall male champion and overall female champion from the 2023 Canadian All Abilities Championship, presented by BDO, overall male champion and overall female champion from The 2024 G4D Open, and from the current WR4GD Gross Ranking – the top 10 men's point leaders and ties, and the top five females and ties.

The 2025 championship expanded to eight sites that hosted qualifying. Conducted over 18 holes, the qualifiers were managed by Allied Golf Associations (AGAs).
