Mason Howell Wins the 2025 Championship

Mason Howell of Thomasville, Ga., took down Jackson “The Fridge” Herrington of Dickson, Tenn., to capture the 125th U.S. Amateur with a commanding 7-and-6 victory in the 36-hole championship match at The Olympic Club’s Lake Course in San Francisco, Calif.

At 18 years, one month and three weeks old, Howell became the third-youngest player to ever hoist the Havemeyer Trophy, overtaking Tiger Woods, who won the first of his three when he was 18 years, seven months old, in 1994.

“My name next to these other names on this trophy is unbelievable. To be next to somebody named Tiger, that’s an unreal feeling,” said Howell, who had to play through Wednesday morning’s 20-for-17 playoff to secure a spot in the match play bracket. “To be ahead of Tiger in something, that’s something that not a lot of people can say.”

The young Georgian stumbled early, bogeying the first and second holes of the morning 18 to go 1 down after Herrington, a rising sophomore at the University of Tennessee, made a winning par on No. 2 to take his only lead of the day.

The University of Georgia commit answered back immediately, notching three consecutive pars against bogeys from Herrington to stack a 2 up lead through five. After halving the sixth with another pair of par putts, Howell laced a statement drive on the Lake Course’s drivable par-4 seventh green to 15-feet.

He converted the eagle putt to go 4 up and didn’t look back, making par or better on every remaining hole during the morning round until an errant wedge on the iconic uphill 18th lost him the last, and he headed into the lunch break 4 up.

“I wanted to keep my foot on the gas, but I didn’t want to do anything dumb. I knew if I hit it to a lot of the center of the greens and two-putted, that would be good enough,” Howell said.

Howell showed no signs of slowing down upon the continuation of the match in the afternoon. With a 4-up lead and 18 more holes to go, Howell played steady, smart golf around the Lake Course, capitalizing on Herrington’s mistakes by finding fairways and greens each time Herrington was long, short or out of position.

“I just played terrible. Can’t lie,” said Herrington, who also finished runner-up a year ago in the U.S. Amateur Four-Ball. “I hit some good shots like this one [on No. 12 in the afternoon 18] that didn’t even end up close... I didn’t know what I was doing, and I couldn’t figure it out.

Howell won the 19th hole, and then the 21st, to go 6 up – both with pars once again. Herrington would grab one back after a Howell bogey at the 24th (No. 6), but the Georgian was quick to recover. He drove the green again in the afternoon, this time rolling into the greenside rough just behind the back-right hole location.

Herrington struggled to hit the green after pulling his tee shot into the left fairway rough, and Howell got up and down for birdie to go 7 up.

After an emphatic fist pump from Howell following a left-to-right breaking par save on the 29th hole (No. 11), Herrington responded with a par save of his own, extending what was ultimately inevitable.

Only needing a tie on the 30th hole to win the match, Howell calmly stepped up to his birdie putt, rolling it to a foot. Herrington conceded, and Howell was crowned champion.

Notable

Runner-up Jackson Herrington received a silver medal, an exemption into the 2026 U.S. Open and a likely invitation into the 2026 Masters Tournament (must remain an amateur), along with exemptions into the next three U.S. Amateur Championships.

Mason Howell became the fourth No. 63 seed to win a USGA championship and the second to win the U.S. Amateur (Clay Ogden, 2005 U.S. Amateur Public Links, Steven Fox, 2012 U.S. Amateur, Jensen Castle, 2021 U.S. Women’s Amateur).

By winning, Mason Howell also earned an automatic spot on the 2025 USA Walker Cup Team, which will compete against Great Britain & Ireland in the 50th edition of the Match at nearby Cypress Point Golf Club, Sept. 6-8.

Sunday’s teenage head-to-head in the final match between 18-year-old Mason Howell and 19-year-old Jackson Herrington was the youngest final in the championship’s history.

Mason Howell, a rising senior at Brookwood High School in Thomasville, Ga., missed the first day of school to be at The Olympic Club this week, with his first day of classes coinciding with Tuesday’s second round of stroke play.

Quotable

“He is just wise beyond his years and so mature for his age. Has the tools that all the best players have, but most importantly, has it between the ears. It’s really impressive and awesome to be a part of his life... I knew from the first moment I met him that he was special. He’s just such a hard worker, and he’s always focused. He doesn’t get wrapped up in his success. He squashes it and moves on to the next tournament, and it’s just rinse and repeat. That’s just a sign of a very mature young man.” – Jimmy Gillam (Howell’s caddie this week) on Mason Howell’s physical and mental talents

Championship History

The U.S. Amateur Championship is the oldest USGA championship and it was created in 1895 because of a controversy. In 1894, two clubs -- Newport (R.I.) Golf Club and New York's St. Andrew's Golf Club -- had conducted invitational tournaments to attract the nation's top amateur players.

Both clubs proclaimed their winners as the national champion, while Charles Blair Macdonald, a prominent player and course architect, was the runner-up in both.

Before the final day of the St. Andrew's tournament, it was announced that an association composed of all the clubs in the United States would be formed in the ensuing months. This new national governing body would oversee a universally recognized championship and create a written set of rules.

With that, representatives from Newport Golf Club, St. Andrew's Golf Club, The Country Club in Brookline, Mass., Shinnecock Hills Golf Club in Southampton, N.Y., and Chicago Golf Club founded the USGA on Dec. 22, 1894, and the inaugural U.S. Amateur Championship was conducted the following year, along with the U.S. Open and U.S. Women's Amateur.

The Amateur and Open Championships were conducted at Newport Golf Club during the same week of October and Macdonald became the first U.S. Amateur champion.

The Amateur Championship is the oldest golf championship in this country — one day older than the U.S. Open. Except for an eight-year period from 1965-1972, when it was stroke play, the Amateur has been a match-play championship.

Over the years, as interest in the game grew and the number of quality players increased, it became necessary to establish a national handicapping system to determine who was eligible to compete in the Amateur. The USGA's first national handicap list, which was published for the 1912 championship, was the forerunner of the present-day USGA Handicap System.

Throughout its history, the U.S. Amateur has been the most coveted of all amateur titles. Many of the great names of professional golf, such as Gene Littler, Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Lanny Wadkins, Craig Stadler, Jerry Pate, Mark O'Meara, Hal Sutton, Phil Mickelson and Tiger Woods, grace the Havemeyer Trophy.

It was, however, longtime amateur Robert T. Jones Jr. who first attracted media coverage and spectator attendance at the Amateur Championship. Jones captured the championship five times (1924, 1925, 1927, 1928, 1930). His 1930 victory was a stunning moment in golf history when, at Merion Cricket Club in Ardmore, Pa., Jones rounded out the Grand Slam, winning the four major American and British championships in one year.

Sixty-six years later, in 1996, Tiger Woods attracted similar interest and enthusiasm when he won a record third consecutive U.S. Amateur at Pumpkin Ridge Golf Club in North Plains, Ore. In 1994, Woods, at 18, had first entered the record book as the youngest ever to win the Amateur Championship. In 1996, he broke yet another record when he won, having registered 18 consecutive match-play victories.

International players also have made a major impact in the last two decades, with Nick Flanagan (Australia, 2003), Edoardo Molinari (Italy, 2005), Richie Ramsay (Scotland, 2006), Danny Lee (New Zealand, 2008), Byeong-Hun An (Republic of Korea, 2009), Matthew Fitzpatrick (England, 2013), Gunn Yang (Republic of Korea, 2014), Curtis Luck (Australia, 2016) and Viktor Hovland (Norway, 2018) taking the title.

In 2020, the U.S. Amateur was conducted during the COVID-19 pandemic. Due to health and safety protocols, qualifying was canceled. The field was all-exempt and the number of players was reduced to 264.

Nick Dunlap joined Tiger Woods as the only players to win both the U.S. Junior Amateur and U.S. Amateur with his victory in 2023 at Cherry Hills Country Club.
